COVER LETTER

I'm Dimitris, a Nuclear and Particle Physics student, at the University of Athens, Greece. Also serving as an EC member in the International Association of Physics Students.

Currently I'm working as Youth Communication Specialist at a communication agency in Athens, Greece. I have hands on knowledge on strategic communication and brand reputation.

In my journey through student organisations I truly understood the need for proper communication. A communication that both receiver and sender, receive feedback from one another. To be more precise, an organization like GSG needs to develop proper internal communication and digital marketing. It needs to engage its members efficiently and then project its internal communication outwards. Turning that into a motive for candidate members to join, because GSG is not its Executive Committee or a persona, GSG is its members.

I'm asking you to to put your trust in me, to work this relationship and build its core values around members engagement and to allow me to assist in Public Affairs with goverment and corporate stakeholders.

Together lets send our message.
